DETAILED ACTION

Claims 2-23 are pending in this application.

Priority

1. Examiner acknowledges priority in 35 U.S.C. 119(e) to U.S. Provisional Application Nos. 60/160,258 and 60/174,227 filed October 19, 1999 and January 3, 2000 respectively.

Action Summary

2. The rejection of claims 19-21 under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) over Mandeville, III et al. is hereby withdrawn.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 19-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Mandeville, III et al. (US Pat. No. 6,264,937 B1).

Mandeville, III describes a composition which can be formulated into an oral dosage i.e. tablets comprising a fat-binding polymer (col. 11, lines 21-24). The fat-binding polymers of the prior art can be poly allylamine (col. 4, lines 25-27). These polymers can be substituted or unsubstituted (col. 4, lines 39-42) or they could be linear or crosslinked wherein such cross-linking agents can be epichlorohydrin (col. 5, lines 37-55). Table 1, Column 12, lines 60 through col. 13, lines 1-15 describes examples of epichlorohydrin crosslinked polymers. Column 10, lines 56-62 discloses an embodiment which administers the fat-binding polymer together with a lipase inhibitor. It is the position of the examiner that the lipase inhibitor is acting in the role of a pharmaceutically active agent as it has a mode of action, which is a lipase inhibitor. Furthermore, example 3, column 12, lines 21-58 describe a method of producing a crosslinked poly (allylamine) HCL. It is the position of the examiner that the crosslinked poly (allylamine) HCL of the example is the active agent to be employed in the production of the tablet.

Art Unit: 1616

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed August 7, 2003 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicants argue that Mandeville, III does not disclose a tablet containing a pharmaceutically active agent and a polyallylamine. Column 10, lines 56-62 disclose a composition comprising polyallylamine and a lipase inhibitor. Since the lipase inhibitor has a mode of action it can constitute a pharmaceutical active agent. Therefore, the prior art of Mandeville, III discloses the claimed invention.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 2-18, 22 and 23 are allowed.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
